

How to Wear your Prolotex™ Far Infrared Therapy Products

We recommend wearing Prolotex™ Far Infrared Therapy Products often as possible, so you can gain the most benefit from the healing Far Infrared Rays (FIR). Prolotex™ healing garments can be worn at night and/or during the day.

Several customers have indicated to us that they would wear their garments almost 24/7 at the beginning and then only needed to use them at night.

For long term healing and cell rejuvenation you will want to wear the garments as often as possible for several weeks - possibly several months. By wearing the FIR garments on a regular, routine basis, you will allow the special Bio-Ceramic FIR garments a chance to improve the circulation in your fingers, toes, knees, wrists shoulders and elbows. The increase in circulation will provide a warming sensation.

Far Infrared is good for your cells and tissues - you cannot overdose from the FIR emitted from the fabric. Once your cells have absorbed as much of the healing rays that they can, the rest will pass through harmlessly.

Prolotex's FIR Therapy Products are a drug-free therapeutic product made with non-toxic natural "Bio-Ceramics" scientifically & medically shown to rejuvenate the tiny capillaries and blood vessels.

Everyone's body will respond slightly differently to the safe healing energy of the Far Infrared Rays. Some people will feel results immediately, while others may not notice much difference until several weeks have passed when using the Prolotex™ Far Infrared garments every day.

Individual conditions are different with various types of ailments & injuries, how long ago the injury or condition started and even eating & lifestyle habits will all contribute to a long-term prognosis.

We have noticed that those individuals that maintain adequate water intake generally get better results from wearing Prolotex™ Far Infrared products.

As a natural therapeutic product Prolotex™ garments are not a quick fix, overnight wonder, but will assist your body to heal itself from the inside. The infrared rays emitted by the products do - over time - increase the "microcirculation" and helps improve the health of your cells and tissues in your fingers, hands, toes, knees, wrists shoulders, elbows etc.

Caring for your Therapy Garments:

Prolotex™ Far Infrared products are intended for therapeutic use. The special gloves are not intended for heavy-duty work environments.

Wearing Prolotex™ Far Infrared therapy products during your resting hours and/or during hours of mild activities will increase their life span. If you live in cold climate you may want to wear Prolotex™ products under your other clothes, gloves & socks.

I bought the Therapy Gloves as I have Carpal Tunnel and did not want surgery or injections (I'm such a coward) Well they are perfect they have almost made my pain go away so much so that I could not find them the other night so I tried to sleep without the gloves what a mistake that was I awoke in the middle of the night in such pain I was crying, so now I am buying a second pair so if I do mislay them I have a back up pair on standby as I never want to be without them again. Thank you so much. Best Wishes Sue L. Fareham England UK

Ups that would be wonderful, I look forward to reading it soon and getting my new gloves which I would be lost without and I really do mean that Thanks for a fantastic product. Very best wishes Sue xxx
